French troops in the Vosges have continued inactivity on the western front by successfully completing a sortie into the German line east of St. Mihiel. The German positions on a mile front were penetrated and 50 prisoners and some machine guns captured. After destroying defenses and shelters the French returned to their own lines. The French also made an attempt to attain the enemy line near Amersfoort in Alsace, according to Berlin, which claims the thrust was repulsed.

German troops in a local attack east of Bullecourt, west of Cambrai, entered the British trenches, but a counter attack ejected the enemy, who left eighteen prisoners in the hands of the British.

Infantry in the Italian front has reduced infantry operation to a minimum, but the artillery in the northern line between Osego and the Piave. Field Marshal Sir John French is his review of the 1917 campaign up to mid-November says the additional strength the Germans have gained from the Russian and Italian failure has largely been offset. He declared the ultimate destruction of the German army has been brought nearer. The offense planned for 1917 failed in completion, but on the western front the allies gained the north of Arras, Ypres, Messines, Flanders, Verdun, Champagne and the Aisne.

Extends Sub Zone. Germany has extended her submarine guard zone to include the Cape Verde Islands and Madeira, off the northwest coast of Africa and part of the coast of French Senegal. The islands and the region about Dakar are alleged to be "enemy supporting points."

New order, which is effective January 11th, follows the one of November, which extended the bar zone to include the Azores which lie north of the Cape Verde Islands. The new order virtually cuts off Spain the only neutral in southern Europe from communication with North and South America.

London, Jan. 9.—At dusk yesterday evening the enemy succeeded in entering two of our advance posts north of the Ypres-Staden Railway but was immediately ejected by a local counter attack, the official reports. Early this morning Canadian troops carried out a successful raid south of Lens capturing two machine guns.

French Advance. Paris, Jan. 9.—A surprise attack east of St. Mihiel. Tuesday French troops penetrated German defenses on a front of nearly a mile. Wreck Villages. Paris, Jan. 9.—The Rome correspondent of the Matin says that, by order of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, according to reliable information which reached him, says one hundred and thirty villages behind the western front, mostly in the region of St. Quentin, have been leveled to the ground so as to afford the German opportunity of defense. Notwithstanding the denial the correspondent adds that only one-third of the thirty thousand Belgians deported to Germany have been permitted to return to their homes.

HELP URGENTLY NEEDED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Allies Must Come to the Rescue of the People or Germany Will Be Able to Swallow Up Entire Nation.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, Jan. 9.—The situation in Petrograd is depicted in the most gloomy colors by the correspondent of the Times, who in a telegram dated Monday, the Russian Christmas, says no Christmas in 300 years has been celebrated in such tragic circumstances.

Petrograd, he adds, is full of dirt, disorder and crime. Burglary, robbery and murder in the most audacious form prevail to an extent hitherto unknown, as there is no police or other authority to appeal to. People Starving.

The food situation is very critical and starvation is staring the people in the face. There is no bread to be had but black, gritty and underdone, and is composed of miller's refuse and mixed with straw. Potatoes are getting scarce and high, while meat is a rare luxury.

The wretched condition of existence has been aggravated by blinding snow storms, drifted by violent winds for three days and nights, with a temperature at 14 degrees Fahrenheit.

A correspondent of the Times thus sums up the general position of the country: "Russian affairs have become so desperate that only the intervention of the allies or the Germans can prevent catastrophe. As this can no longer be expected from the allies, the disheartened Russians look to the Germans to put an end to the awful chaos in which the country is now enveloped."

See Hidden Menace.
London, Jan. 9.—Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik foreign minister, is convinced that the entire government wish Germany to make an advantageous separate peace with Russia so that Germany will agree to the terms of the peace which the allies want in the West, according to the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily News.

Premier Lloyd George, the correspondent assured Trotsky, had never made such a statement, but the Bolshevik leaders were hard to convince and said they would be influenced by the attitude of the allied governments, but by that of the allied people.

Smith, Miss Agnes Weber, Mrs. Harvey, city nurse, addressed the county board of supervisors at the session this afternoon. Numerous instances were cited of a pathetic nature, and the speakers made earnest appeals for the alleviation of these conditions. They made it clear that the county must build a sanatorium within a few years in order to care for the great number of tuberculous patients who will come back from the war. There will be more need of a sanatorium as time goes on because of the increasing spread of the disease. The reports of the ladies were referred to the special sanatorium committee.

GERMANS SANK BOAT LOADED WITH SICK

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, Jan. 9.—Notwithstanding the pledge given by her government, the German navy has sunk another hospital ship, the Daily Mail says. All the wounded and others on board were saved. Neither the name or the nationality of the ship was given, but it says where the vessel was sunk.

The hospital ship Rewa was torpedoed and sunk in the Bristol Channel Jan. 4 while on her way from Gibraltar. It is announced officially. All wounded were saved. There were three casualties among the crew. The Rewa was displaced 1,000 tons. The markings required by The Hague convention. She was not and had not been within the so-called barred zone as defined in the statement issued by the German government Jan. 18, 1917.

After making several charges of the sinking of hospital ships, which were denied specifically by the entente governments concerned, the Germans last year suspended the immunity of these vessels in the English channels and certain other waters. Last September King Alfonso of Spain intervened and succeeded in obtaining an agreement from the belligerents for the free movement of hospital ships within specified areas.

The four brotherhoods represent only 350,000 out of the 1,700,000 according to Mr. Heberling and the interest of less powerful groups should not be lost sight of.

APPROVE OF THE SPEECH OF WILSON

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT OF WHAT GERMANY MIGHT HOPE FOR IN PEACE TERMS MADE DECIDED IMPRESSION.

ENGLAND IN APPROVAL

Wants Russian Bolsheviks That United States Does Not Approve of Any Separate Peace on Part of the Allies.
Washington, Jan. 9.—Approval of President Wilson's address to congress setting forth America's program for war and peace was heard on every side in Washington today and the opinion seemed universal that the president had given circulation in Russia to counteract any evil effects of Germany's latest peace propaganda.

Of Great Aid.
It was authoritatively stated that the president decided to address congress at this time in an effort to prevent resumption of negotiations between the Russian and German at Brest-Litovsk.

Warns Russia.
Another reason for the president's message was found in the necessity of making some reply to the request of the Bolsheviks that the United States and sent by wire to the peace negotiations. Germany made it a condition of the negotiation that Russia should bring in the allies.

Telling Effect.
Since the United States and allies have not recognized the Bolshevik government, it was deemed necessary that the United States set forth its aims in a public announcement, which might be given circulation in Russia following the example of Premier Lloyd George.

Cabled Everywhere.
The president's address has been cabled and sent by wire to the principal world capitals for telegraphic distribution.

In England.
London, Jan. 9.—A small portion of President Wilson's address to congress arrived in time to be printed in the first edition of the London morning newspapers and was not given special prominence. The second edition was reprinted completely to enable a big display of the main parts of the address, which evidently is destined to cause an equal or greater reaction in the speech made Saturday by Lloyd George.

Epoch Making.
In the introductory note the president's address is epoch making and the item in the program referring to freedom of the seas is made conspicuous by large headlines.

The Daily Chronicle in an editorial expressed satisfaction that President Wilson has once more seized a great occasion in order to give the lead not only to his own nation, but to the conscience of civilized mankind.

Further Approval.
London, Jan. 9.—President Wilson's speech, like all his utterances since America entered the war, was the leading item in the London press. One newspaper describes it as "the magna charta of future peace."

Coming on Sunday, the words of the president's address at the labor conference, the words of the heads of the American and British governments are compared closely. While statements will be removed in the manner of discussing the various questions, this evening's newspapers find no disagreement in essential policy.

It is noted the president deals more sympathetically with the Bolsheviks than did the premier. But it is pointed out the Americans did not suffer from the Russian collapse as the Westerners. The Westerners welcome Mr. Wilson's careful sympathetic language and says it hopes that "all misunderstanding which may have arisen from the premature general tone of the speech will be removed by the unequivocal language in which the president adopts the Russian demands as his own." The speech appeared in the newspapers under big headlines, such as "American terms to Germany," "World peace program," and "Great program of international reforms."

BENNY LEONARD HAS ONE LESS TO FIGHT

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
New York, Jan. 8.—The idea that Irish Patsy Cline was ready for a long fight with Benny Leonard seems to have taken wings a few days ago and just flew away. Patsy bumped into a hurricane of hits when he met Johnny Tillman and the stuff was off. He had to get busy along some other lines if he hopes to regain favor.

Cline never had been considered more than just a good boy before Harry Pollok annexed him to a contract. The association with Pollok was the thing that got him publicity and then started him toward some good matches. The little lightweight also got the benefit of some high class coaching.

Pollok drew off the match with Leonard and, luckily Cline landed a solid right hand smash on the champion's chin early in the bout. It made things look good for him and it seemed likely a long bout would be arranged for him, but, as noted, he took on Tillman. Tillman is a tall rangy scrapper, fast with both hands. He demonstrated that any fast, careful boxer can beat Cline, simply because the latter isn't able to fight at long range. Leonard, the chances are, would have no difficulty in knocking Cline down for a count in a longer bout. The Philadelphia affair was over the six-round route.

As a matter of fact, there are very few lightweight fighters with the class that really entitles them to a chance at Leonard. Of the few Joe Weiling is the outstanding one of the lot, and it is hardly probable he could fight, for he is in the naval reserve. Leonard is another of the few but it seems to be practically a cinch that he will not be given a crack.

Willie Jackson was an overnight sensation. His knockout of Johnny Dundee in Philadelphia gained him a set of publicity, started him on the road to fame, but really didn't amount to much. Jackson has hardly done anything since that time that would give him any credit.

Frankie Callahan has been leading for just one more chance at the champion, and the chances are he will get it. Callahan met Leonard and put up a rattling good fight. He was beaten, but fighting strong at the end of the bout. Leonard would have trouble with Callahan.

MORRIS MILLER

Not only will Merdie Schupp perform brilliantly throughout most of last season and top it off with a shutout in the world series, but he also distinguished himself as a striking out more men in one game than any other pitcher in the big leagues. Early in July he fanned an even dozen Cardinals in one afternoon. Jim Vaughn of the Cubs was the star striker-out after Schupp. He struck out eleven men in one contest, ten in another, nine in three games and eight in three. No other pitcher in either league struck out in so consistent a way as Vaughn.

Harry Laross, well known minor league outfielder, who finished last season with the Peoria Central league team, is a recent enlistment. He goes into the quartermaster's end of the war game.

The American Association pitchers will have to do without their shine balls and other such tricks next season. Quicker deliveries were so many in the Association last season that the batters were almost helpless and the umpires were frantic. Looking over the balls seemed to do little good and no matter how many new ones were thrown out the pitchers would continue to fix 'em up for the catcher. If many of the most successful hurlers are obliged to return to their old deliveries next season it's a safe bet that there will be some free-for-all battling.

Charley Wortman, shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, is making the off season his honeymoon. He recently was married to Miss Pamela Hinde of Kansas City.

The Smith family in the majors has lost two more members when Elmer Smith of Cleveland and Sherwood Smith of Brooklyn decided to go to war, but there is still enough of them left to make quite a ball team.

Mike Donlin, once a National league ball player of some prominence, later an actor, is now in the movies. He has been featured in a "Raffles" picture, in which he took the part of the thief. He is said to do some thrilling work in this role.

Pacific Coast league team managers will not only have to use more bushers under the new league regulations, but they will have to get along with their players of any sort, for the league at its recent meeting cut the team limit to sixteen men.

No major league club has been so hard hit in its pitching staff as the Brooklyn Dodgers. That team has lost four twirlers on account of war so far—Smith, Egan, Egan, and Egan. Groh, of course, will be left short. Groh, of course, will be left short. Groh, of course, will be left short.

They Turned Hose On McAdoo and Arrested Him On His First Railroad Job In Tennessee

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Merging several horsecar lines of Knoxville was the first railroad experience of Director General of the Railroads W. G. McAdoo, who is now systematically consolidating 260,000 miles of line for the nation, about four-ninths of the total railway mileage of the entire world.

McAdoo operated the first electric street car system in Knoxville. He was educated at the University of Tennessee here, in which institution his lamented father was a professor for a number of years. He then located for a time in Chattanooga, in the practice of law. In 1889 he saw an opportunity, conceived the idea of consolidating the several horsecar lines then operating in the city of Knoxville and converting this merged system into a modern electrically propelled railway. He succeeded in acquiring the horse lines, and then organized a company, financed the augmented and improved plant, and operated the first electric cars in this city.

The enterprise encountered many difficulties, notable among which was an injunction proceeding to inhibit Mr. McAdoo's company from laying a double track on Gay street (the main thoroughfare). Many business men expressed the belief that a double track through this main thoroughfare would paralyze traffic and would work a hardship that would be fatal to business interests of the city.

He Gets His Double Track. He proposed that one or more turnouts, or switches, be provided on Gay street, where cars could pass at intervals. McAdoo contested this injunction proceeding, the court decided in his favor and the two tracks were built. He was then temporarily enjoined from erecting overhead trolley wires, the argument being made that these live wires exposed without insulation would be hazardous to human life, because of liability of falling from their bearings. This issue was the subject of a spirited litigation, which was determined in favor of McAdoo, and the wires went up.

At length financial reverses came and the company was placed in a receivership, the late J. C. Duncan being named as receiver. He and Mr. McAdoo were good friends. Duncan operated the property for three or four years, when it was sold in 1895 at federal court sale and was bid in by J. Simpson Africa of Philadelphia, who was then the local manager of the title was invested in J. Simpson Africa, trustee, who selected Howell as the general manager of the property.

McAdoo Renews Efforts.

Soon after the disposition of the original McAdoo system, McAdoo returned to Knoxville in 1895 with an expressed determination to build a complete street railway system. He acquired the Elmwood dummy line, then operating on Park avenue from Gay street to Elmwood park, adjoining the present Chilhowee park. Within a short time he leased Lake Otsego, now Chilhowee park, and after changing the dummy line to an electric railway he extended the latter into Lake Otsego. His company was the Citizens Street Railway company, and was backed by Philadelphia and New York capitalists.

The Howell interests resisted the McAdoo plans for a competing street railway system, and when McAdoo went to the city council seeking to acquire rights of way over certain streets of the city he met a rigid resistance from Howell. Finally McAdoo obtained certain franchises, including a right of way over Depot avenue between Gay and Jacksboro streets. Early one morning in 1897 he placed a force of men at work excavating Depot avenue, preparatory to laying street car tracks. The then mayor, S. G. Heiskell, was not in full sympathy with the McAdoo plan. The fire department and police were ordered to the scene, and water was thrown on the laborers and a near-riot resulted in which one negro laborer was killed and Lieutenant of Police Frank Hood was injured.

Orders McAdoo's Arrest.

McAdoo and all his men were ordered arrested on the charge of a violation of an ordinance prohibiting streets being dug up during winter months. The men made bond and immediately returned to work. The fire department was ordered out again and more water was turned on the men.

This incident was the beginning of the end of McAdoo's street railway career in Knoxville. He gave out a spirited interview in which he defended his position and left his case with the public. Soon thereafter the Citizens Street Railway company's affairs were closed up and the property was acquired by J. Simpson Africa, trustee, and merged with the original McAdoo system.

EPIGRAMS FROM McADOO'S SPEECHES.

No matter what situation in life you occupy, no matter how humble it is, make it your rule to do your work better than anyone ever did it before.

The individual is inevitably the power behind the endeavor. Others may help him, but he alone can give the finishing touch.

Character attains the greatest excellence in the severe school of hardship, suffering and poverty.

The slovenly man is the unsuccessful man.

"The public-be-pleased policy" is only another way of saying the public shall have decent treatment. It is not creditable to any service corporation to be merely decent to the public; it is highly creditable for it to be indecent.

The fact that a given service is performed by a person who wears trousers does not make that service less valuable if performed by a person who doesn't wear trousers. It is the character and quality of the service that determines, or should determine, its value, no matter what the sex of the person who renders it. If women can do the work as well as men, put them to work, but pay them the salaries that you would pay the men.

No corporation is soulless. The soul of a corporation is the soul of its dominant officers and the management reflects that soul.

Civility can be enforced and it works wonders. It is a reform that can be made without legislation.

Fatimas in France

"—and when a package of Fatimas reaches camp we feel as if we were on a big party."

(Extract from a letter from L. A. Collier, Par B.C.M., an American ambulance driver with the French army.)

FATIMAS have long been a stand-by with both the Army and Navy. The men want Fatimas because, even though they may occasionally smoke more often than usual, Fatima's well-balanced Turkish blend leaves a man feeling just as before. Fatimas never disturb. You'll find this true as surely as you try a package.

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO AID CITIZENS MAKING REPORTS

That the United States intends to very thoroughly reach out after persons who are liable to pay a federal income tax for the year 1917, is illustrated by the letters that have just been received in this city by various manufacturers from Burt Williams, collector of internal revenue at Madison.

Mr. Williams has called the attention of the manufacturers to the new provision of law which requires every person, corporation or association making any payment of $500 or more during 1917 in wages, profits, or other income to report the name, address and amount to the Treasury Department. Mr. Williams has asked the manufacturers to get these facts together so that they will be available for the use of his deputies who will visit this city at once to list up people who must pay income tax to the United States Government. This particular law will be of great service to the United States in ferreting out the persons who might feel that they can escape the tax by not reporting.

This law applies not only to employees of labor, but to banks, trust companies, insurance companies, and all other organizations, and any person who has received from any one source $500 or more during the year 1917 will have his name thus furnished to the United States so that action can be taken against him in case he fails to make his return. It is very essential, therefore, that any person who feels that he might be required to pay an income tax make every effort to comply with the law.

A deputy representing the treasury department will be in the city in a short time and he will be glad to assist all persons in making their returns. It is the intention of Mr. Williams, the collector of internal revenue, to get all possible cooperation with the manufacturers, and it is his purpose to have his deputies go to the offices of these plants to make out returns there in order to get in close touch with the men who are required to make returns. Payments of over $500 to be reported to the treasury department will be applicable not only to employees, but it will reach the farmers as well.

It is the purpose of the internal revenue collector to call upon every creamery, cheese factory, and condenser in this federal district, and on all produce grain buyers, etc., to make a report of every farmer to whom they have paid $500 or more during the year 1917.

It is the new federal law, every unmarried man having an income of $1000 and over, and every married man having an income of $2000 and over, must make a report, and all persons who do not think they are obliged to pay should get in touch with the United States tax collector when he comes here, for failure to make return when liable to do so is a crime against the United States, punishable by fine or imprisonment. Not only is this the case, but the man who fails to make a return is liable to be fined and imprisoned, and his property is liable to be seized.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the County Council of Defense the following Soldier-Pal committee was appointed: Frank Madison, man, Springfield, Ill.; A. Warner, man, Springfield, Ill.; Dan Drew, Magnolia; Geo. Campbell, Rock. It is the duty of this committee to aid in securing some suitable person to write a letter to the Soldier-Pal in two weeks to the soldier boy in camp or trench who has no friend or relative to write him.

Up to the present time Corresponding Secretary R. Starn has seen to it that each soldier boy from Rock County who has no friend or relative was furnished with a correspondent. Owing to the many duties of the Secretary at the present time and in the near future a large number of Rock County boys will be called to follow the flag, it was deemed best to appoint a committee to take the matter in hand.

The committee is not expected to furnish a Soldier-Pal and correspondent to the soldier boy who has neither a friend, wife, brother, sweet heart or other relatives who would write him occasionally, although an extra letter would come amiss, but to be a helping friend in selecting a Pal for the boy who is lacking some one to write him.

Some have said that there is no necessity for the Soldier-Pal movement. An answer to each heartless statement, imagine yourself a soldier boy in camp or trench many miles from home and never receive a kind message from any one.

The Soldier-Pal movement is one of the little aids to win the war. The man who does not do his utmost to help him it is false to his country and to himself.

One who aids in comforting the boy who wears the uniform and who is ready and willing to go "over the top" is keeping time to the music of humanity and aiding in a noble duty.

The committee will appreciate the co-operation of the citizens of Rock County in the movement.

Mrs. G. Olds of Chicago has returned after a few days' visit with her mother, Mrs. Pukering.

Mrs. T. W. Nuzum of Milwaukee avenue left this morning for a winter's sojourn in California.

Lynn A. Whaley of this city, was a business visitor at Chippewa Falls, the past two days.

Mrs. Emma Mason of South Bluff street, who has been spending a week in Minneapolis and St. Paul with friends, has returned.

Mrs. George Scott of Avalon was a Janesville visitor with friends on Tuesday.

Irving Blitt, who is stationed at Camp Grant, came up and spent the first of the week with friends in Janesville.

Mrs. Taylor Swan of Brodhead was the recent guest of friends in this city.

Mrs. Jay Baldwin of Evansville was a hoppy visitor in this city and Beloit. It being learned that the appropriation was not made, the total cost of the road would be assessed against the county, regardless of the board's decision to take advantage of the state and federal aid for the building of the road and save the taxpayers the money.

A resolution was adopted to raise the bonds will be issued in $100 denominations and will be retired in five years, drawing interest at five percent. It is planned to raise $65,000 in this way, which is the county's share of the cost of the new highway.

The bond issue was made necessary because the state was too late to get the appropriation into the 1918 tax levy, and the amount would have to be raised by taxation in 1919. As this would be a burden on the taxpayers, it was decided to distribute the paying for the work over a larger period of time, thus not materially increasing the taxes in any one year.

It is planned to place the sale of the bonds in the hands of County Treasurer A. M. Church, and to sell $13,000 worth each year, or of the amount is not needed, to sell only enough to meet the expenses each year. It was also thought wiser to sell the bonds in $100 denominations so that they would be sold to Rock county people, an asset to trust and bonding companies in Chicago.

By the action of the board this morning, the state and federal aid, which will amount to two-thirds of the total cost of the proposed highway, will not be lost to the county. Although the matter should have been passed at the meeting in November, it is expected that in the end it will work out satisfactorily to the taxpayers, and the burden will not be felt any more than as the bonds were issued but the money raised by taxation.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Jane Lowery. Mrs. Florence Conway and La. Howard have returned to the Whitewater normal to resume their school work.

Sergeant Howard Smith, after an over Sunday visit at the John Jones home on Oakland avenue, with his family, has returned to Camp Grant at Rockford.

Mrs. P. C. Mooney and D. C. Collins of Brodhead, returned after a short visit in town with friends.

Mrs. William Hutton has gone to Delavan to visit her mother, Mrs. Stuart, this week.

Miss Doris Armstrong of Clark street, who has been spending her vacation at home, left the first of the week for Oseola, Wis., where she is teaching in the public schools.

Mr. Lowery preceded her in death nearly eleven weeks ago. Since then Mrs. Lowery has lived in Evansville with the exception of last summer, when she spent the summer at the home of her sister at Milton.

Because of poor health she decided to spend the winter at Milton. Her health seemed to greatly improve and she was always interested in everything going on.

About two weeks before her death she was taken violently ill with an attack of the heart from which she could not rally, though all possible medical aid was rendered.

Mrs. Lowery's home life was one of quiet, unassuming, but from which she could not rally, though all possible medical aid was rendered.

TO RAISE $65,000 FOR BUILDING ROAD BY ISSUING BONDS

Supervisors Vote to Float Bonds of $100 Denominations as County's Share of Trunk Line Highway to Beloit.

In a reconsideration of their action at the last meeting of the county board in November, the highway appropriations were voted down, the supervisors this morning decided to appropriate the sum of money necessary for the building of the trunk line highway between this city and Beloit. It being learned that the appropriation was not made, the total cost of the road would be assessed against the county, regardless of the board's decision to take advantage of the state and federal aid for the building of the road and save the taxpayers the money.

Women, Prepare!

Thousands of women in Wisconsin have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells more widely today than ever. It is a liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Send for trial package tablets to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

PORTAGE, Wis.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines are just what they are recommended to be."

"I took 'Favorite Prescription' during expectancy and during my sickness, and my children were as strong and healthy as I could wish. I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I recommend them, with safety." Mrs. PETER BERRY, 318 East Howard Street.

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—"Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a very good medicine. When I was a girl going to school, I got all run down and weak, due to hard studying. About this time I was coming into womanhood, and the 'Prescription' built me up in fine shape. In just a short space of time, I took it again about three years ago, during expectancy, and it helped me wonderfully. My sickness was very slight and my baby was strong and healthy and has always been." Mrs. DAVE BERRY, 318 East Howard Street.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

A Tale of the North

"It's me—Jones—Gopher Jones. Say, Mac, the bank ain't open and we can't rouse Milton. Thought I'd come to you, seeing as you're president of the shebang."

In three minutes Macdonald joined the marshal and walked down with him to the bank. He unlocked the front door and turned to the little crowd that had gathered.

"Better wait here, boys. Gopher and I will go in. I expect everything is all right, but let you know about that as soon as we find out."

The bank president opened the door, let the officer enter, and followed him.

The sun had not yet risen and the blinds were down. Macdonald struck a match and held it up.

"Bank's been robbed," he announced quietly.

"Looks like," agreed Jones. His voice was uneven with excitement.

The Scotch-Canadian lit another match. In the flare of it he saw that the steel grill cutting off the alcove was open and that the door had been blown from the safe.

The marshal clutched at the arm of the banker. "Did you see—that?" he whispered.

His finger pointed toward the darkness to the other end of the room. In the faint gray light of coming day Macdonald could see a huddled mass on the floor.

"There has been murder done. I'll get a light. Don't move from here, Jones. I want to look at things before we disturb them. There's no danger. The robbers have been gone for hours."

By the light of another match the mine-owner crossed the room into the sitting room of the cashier. Presently he returned with a lamp and let its light fall upon the figure lying slumped against the wall. A revolver lay close to the inert fingers. The head hung forward grotesquely upon the breast.

The dead man was Milton. His employer saw nothing ridiculous in the twisted neck and sprawling limbs. The cashier had died to save the money entrusted to his care.

Macdonald handed the lamp to the marshal and picked up the revolver. Every chamber was loaded.

"They beat him to it. They were probably here when he reached home. My guess is he heard them right away, got his gun, and came in. He's still wearing his dress suit. That gives us the time, for he left the club about midnight. Soon as they saw him they dropped him. I wouldn't have had this happen for all the money in the safe."

"How much was there in it?"

"I don't know exactly. The books will show. I'll send Wally down to look them over."

"Shot right spang through the heart, looks like," commented Jones, following with his eye the course of the wound.

"Wish I'd been here instead of him," Macdonald said grimly. His eyes softened as he continued to look down at the employee who had paid with his life for his faithfulness. "It wasn't an even break. Poor old fellow! You weren't built for a job like this, Robert Milton, but you played your hand out to a finish. That's all any man can do."

He turned abruptly away and began examining the safe. The silver still stood sacked in one large compartment. The bank notes had escaped the hurried search of the robbers, but the gold was practically all gone. One sack had been torn by the explosion and single pieces of gold could be found all over the safe.

Macdonald glanced over the papers rapidly. The officer picked up one of dozens scattered over the floor. It was a mortgage note made out to the bank by a miner. He collected the others. Evidently the bandits had torn off the rubber, glanced over one or two to see if they had any cash value, and tossed the package into the air as a disgusted gambler does a pack of cards.

The bank president stepped to the door and threw it open. He explained the situation in three sentences.

"I can't let you in now, boys, until the coroner has been here," he went on to tell the crowd. "But there is one way you can all help. Keep your eyes open. If you have seen any suspicious characters around, let me know. Or if anyone has left town in a hurry—or been seen doing anything during the night that you did not understand at the time."

A man named Fred Tague pushed to the front. He kept a feed corral near the edge of town. "I can tell you one man who munched off before five o'clock this morning—and that's Gid Holt."

The eyes of Macdonald, cold and hard as jade, fastened to the man. "How do you know?"

"That dog team he bought from Tim Ryan—Well, he's been keeping it in my corral. When I got there this morning it was gone. The snow hadn't wiped out the tracks of the runners yet, so he couldn't have left more than fifteen minutes before."

"You don't know that Holt took the team himself?"

"Come to that, I don't. But he had a key to the barn where the sled was. Holt has been putting up at the hotel. I reckon it is easy to find out if he's still there."

Macdonald's keen brain followed the facts as the nose of a bloodhound does a trail. Holt, an open enemy of his, had reached town only two days before. He had bought one of the best and swiftest dog teams in the North and had let slip before witnesses the remark that Macdonald would soon find out what he wanted with the outfit. The bank had been robbed after fit. The bank had been robbed after fit. The bank had been robbed after fit.

To file open the grill and to blow up the safe must have taken several hours. Before morning the dogs of Holt had taken the trail. If their owner were with them, it was a safe bet that the sled carried forty thousand dollars in Alaska gold dust.

So far the mind of the Scotsman followed the probabilities logically, but at this point it made a jump. There were at least two robbers. He was morally sure of that, for this was not a one-man job. Now, if Holt had with him a companion, who of all those in Kuskak was the most likely man? He was a friendless, crabbed old fellow. Since coming to Kuskak old Gideon had been seen constantly with one man. They had been with each other at dinner and had later left the hotel together. The name of the man who had been so friendly with old Holt was Gordon Elliot—and Elliot not only was another enemy of Macdonald, but had very good reasons for getting out of the country just now.

The strong jaw of the mine-owner stood out saliently as he gave short, sharp orders to men in the crowd. One was to get the coroner, a second Wally Selfridge, another the United States district attorney. He divided the rest into squads to guard the roads leading out of town and to see that nobody passed for the present.

The coroner took charge of the body and Wally of the bank. The mine-owner and the district attorney walked up to the hotel together. As soon as they had explained what they wanted, the landlord got a passkey and took them to the room Holt had used.

Apparently the bed had been slept in. In the waste-paper basket the district attorney found something which he held up in a significant silence. Macdonald stepped forward and took from him a small cloth sack.

"One of those we keep our gold in at the bank," said the Scotsman after a close examination. "This definitely ties up Holt with the robbery. Now for Elliot."

"He left the hotel with Holt about five this morning," the porter says. "This was the contribution of the landlord."

The room of Gordon Elliot was in great disorder. Garments had been tossed on the bed and on every chair and had been left to lie wherever they had chanced to fall. Plainly their owner had been in great haste.

Macdonald looked through the closet where clothes hung. "His new fur coat is not here—nor his trail boots. Looks to me as though Mr. Gordon had hit the trail with his friend Holt."

All doubt of this was removed when a prospector reached town with the news that he had met Holt and Elliot traveling toward the divide as fast as they could drive the dogs.

The big Scotsman ordered his team of Siberian wolf-hounds made ready for the trail. As he donned his heavy furs, Colby Macdonald smiled with deep satisfaction. He had Elliot on the run at last.

Just as he closed the door of his room, Macdonald heard the telephone bell ring. He hesitated, then shrugged his shoulders and strode into the storm. If he had answered the call he would have learned from Diane, who was at the other end of the line, that the stage upon which Sheba had started for Katma had not reached the roadhouse at Smith's Crossing.

Five minutes later the winners of the great Alaska sweepstakes were flying down the street in the teeth of the storm. Armed with a rifle and a revolver, their owner was musing into the hills to bring back the men who had robbed his bank and killed the cashier. He traveled alone because he could go faster without a companion. It never occurred to him that he was not a match for any two men he might face.

Dinner Stories

An old colored man charged with stealing chickens was arraigned in court and was incriminating himself when the judge said:

"You ought to have a lawyer. Where's your lawyer?"

"Ah ain't got no lawyer, judge," said the old man.

"Very well, then," said his honor. "I'll assign a lawyer to defend you."

"Oh, no, suh; no, suh! Please don't do dat!" the darky begged.

"Why not?" asked the judge. "It won't cost you anything. Why don't you want a lawyer?"

"Well, judge, Ah'll tell you, suh," said the old man, waving his tattered old hat confidentially. "Hills dis way. Ah wan' tan enjoy dem chickens mahself."

"Yes," said Swagger, "this is sap-hire in my ring."

"That's where you are wrong," said his friend. "That is called a sap-hire."

PROVES THAT STATE IS LOYAL TO CAUSE

HON. L. C. WHITTET REVIEWS WAR WORK ACTIVITIES OF WISCONSIN AND TELLS OF WONDERFUL RESULTS.

EXAMPLE FOR NATION

W. L. Houser Also Speaks, Telling Twilight Club Members of Desperate Need of Increasing Production of Meat.

"Shortly before registration day, rumors were spread that there would be decided opposition on the part of some registrants which might result in bloodshed. These reports were investigated and were found to be entirely unfounded. The only opposition recorded on the fifth of June was a fight between two Germans in Milwaukee—to see who would register first.

"Another real test of the loyalty and devotion of Wisconsin was brought to the attention of federal authorities when complete returns of the number of registrants were forwarded to Washington. Wisconsin was the first state to file its report, being four hours ahead of any other state. The returns were forwarded at four a. m. on the morning of June 10.

"When war was declared in April, the total enrollment of the national guards in this state was 3,900 men. This number was quickly raised to 15,000 men, who were ready to go into camp June 15. The seizure of the tentage by the government, however, prevented this, and made it necessary to postpone the mobilization until July 15, when they went into training at Camp Douglas. When they were sent to Camp MacArthur, they were fully equipped—not by the federal government, but by the state.

"It was my camp at Waco, where I found the boys happy and perfectly contented. Federal inspectors have remarked that the best trained division of all the camps or cantonments. Sanitary conditions at the camp are of the best, due to the efforts of Col. Wilbert Seaton, Wisconsin man, who has made them of a high degree.

"$320,000 Expended. Wisconsin has expended the sum of $320,000 for the various war works which she will not be reimbursed for by the federal government. Repeated commendations are continually being sent by the provost marshal to Wisconsin, which list the efficiency of the camps and the efficiency of the provost marshal's office. The number of registrants who have failed to answer the call in the country is 8.2 percent. In the city, the rate is less than 1 percent, a fact which led the provost marshal to say that we have come to expect the impossible from Wisconsin. Exemption boards have acted wisely and justly and in the same time have been humane in the matter of granting exemptions.

"In a report of the war department, June 30, Wisconsin's number of volunteer enlistments was listed as being 54 percent. Of the central states, Wisconsin ranked second with 50 percent; Indiana, 41.6 percent; Illinois, 34.8 percent; Minnesota, 31.5 percent; and Michigan, 31.5 percent.

"Liberty Loan. "In the national liberty loan drive, this state ranked first in the subscriptions per capita with the other states of the seventh federal district, with 155 percent over its quota. Illinois was second with 142.5 percent. The total subscriptions to the loan in Wisconsin amounted to the stupendous sum of $116,823,100.

"Other Activities. "Other activities in the state are worthy of mention here. The prisoners of war have done an immense amount of work in manufacturing war materials. There have been no labor disturbances. Citizens have generously, to the aid of their money, to the aid of their time, and although it has been a tremendous burden, there have been no complaints. My talk would not be complete without mentioning the wonderful work which has been done in the various activities by the women of the state. They have given their sons, brothers, and husbands, have sacrificed their all to the end that the war might be brought to a successful conclusion. They have done, and are doing, a marvelous work for the Red Cross, for which they are deserving of the highest praise.

"People Proved Loyal. "These things, which I have mentioned as Wisconsin's war work, are not in praise of the state officials, but in praise of the citizens who have responded nobly to the many calls for sacrifice. It is therefore just that Wisconsin should be called a loyal state. It is incredible. Do not these facts prove that she has demonstrated her patriotism and loyalty to the cause to as high or higher degree than any other state in the Union? Do not believe reports of her disloyalty and endeavor to correct this wrong.

Impression by proving that she has sacrificed as no other state has, and has supported the government in many activities and will continue to do so until the end. (Let us hope that this war will continue until the spirit of Christmas shall prevail throughout the world, and that peace will not be declared until peace and good will to men shall reign supreme.)

Houser Speaks. After a short discussion of Mr. Whittet's excellent address, Mr. Markham introduced Mr. Houser, who began his talk by urging the hearty co-operation of the citizens in increasing production of the state. He continued in part:

"The greatest necessity at the present time for the successful prosecution of the war is the increasing of the production of meats and fats. A campaign is now going on to organize the boys and girls of this state into clubs for the stimulation of the raising of hogs, sheep and cattle. We propose to start contests among the children ranking in age from ten to sixteen to raise these animals, to meet the crying demand for more meat, which is universal.

Prize Contests. "That boys and girls are capable of managing these industries and raising hogs, sheep and cattle has been proved. In the baby beef contest which was conducted in this state last year, a finer array of calves was never seen before than those which were on exhibition at Madison when the contest closed. They were nearly one hundred percent animals which had been fed and cared for by these county farmers. A boy from Sauk county, who was in the contest—a boy so small he could not see over the back of his calf. A youngster from Sauk county took his prize calf down to the international exhibition at Chicago a short time ago, and carried off a prize. In this exhibition were baby beavers raised by some of the most experienced stock men in the country and in Scotland and England in raising their animals—and yet this practically inexperienced boy went down to that exhibition and won high honors for his efforts.

"We have worked out plans whereby instructions from experts in these lines will be furnished free to the contestants in the contests which will be begun. If any boy or girl has difficulty in the raising of his animals, and if he will make a special trip to remedy the defect and instruct the boy as to the proper care to be used, we plan to begin these contests in the near future and are asking for the co-operation of every citizen in this county. It may be that hogs may be more successfully raised in this locality, or maybe sheep, or any other animal, but all must be raised and in large quantities.

Citizens Must Help. "It is up to you business men and farmers to support us in this work. It is your duty as a patriotic citizen to co-operate to the fullest extent possible to the most serious shortage may be met and the children induced to remain on the farms. It has been shown that contests of this nature arouse an interest among the youngsters that will lead them to adopt agricultural pursuits as their life work. They take as much interest in these contests as they do in a basketball, football or baseball game and it is your duty and my duty to encourage them.

"In order to distribute the animals to contestants, it will be necessary for the banks or the Commercial club or some organization to finance a campaign. Money may be advanced through purchase, and the children allowed to make partial payments until they are paid for in full. This will not be a risk as it is practically sure that the results will be great. It will be a sound and patriotic investment for the banks. Let us all co-operate in this work so that the threatened meat shortage, which may possibly result in a meat famine, may be avoided and the children induced to remain on the farms.

Talks to Students. Mr. Houser spoke at the high schools in Edgerton, Clinton, Beloit and this city today in regard to the plans, which he received enthusiastically by the students. County Agent L. A. Markham plans to take up the work at once and will endeavor to get the contests started at an early date.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Jan. 8.—Burr Pankhurst is visiting with friends at Fond du Lac this week.

The teachers in the village schools returned to their homes on Monday after learning of the condition of the heating plant at the school building. The train service was badly delayed on Monday, No. 22, which is due here at 11:20 a. m. did not arrive, and as a result there were no Chicago papers in the village that day.

J. F. Ennis is in receipt of a letter from his sister, Arthur, which he had written to his sister in Beloit. The letter is dated—U. S. S. Wyoming, Dec. 16. The writer says: "I am O. K. but a long way home. I can't tell you just where, but we are with the allies' fleet." He speaks of a terrific storm which they encountered on Thanksgiving day in which they lost one of their whaleboats, and had one of their top masts carried away. He also says that one of their steamers was stove in.

Farmers are busy on Tuesday breaking up roads. In many places the roads were so filled that it was necessary to go through the fields for long distances.

FOOTVILLE

Footville, Jan. 7.—The Red Cross society will have an all-day meeting at the school house on Friday of this week and a large attendance is desired. Outsiders are invited and everyone interested in the work is asked to be present and contribute his bit toward helping on the good work. Picnic dinner will be served, and all are asked to bring enough sandwiches for themselves and a covered dish besides, or in other words, some other eatables also. There is much work to be done along this line, and the society will appreciate every effort made to assist in the work, and surely we all realize that it is a work worthy the consideration of everybody.

Harold Kane came up from Camp Grant and spent Sunday with friends here. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Silverthorn entertained at dinner Sunday, having as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Lacey and Leon Spencer and wife and little son Lacey Victor; also Miss Booth. Mr. Christianson and the Misses Christianson came up from Newark Saturday for a week-end visit with their sister, Mrs. Thostenson. They contemplated returning on Sunday and indeed started on their way home, but owing to the storm and bad condition of the roads, were obliged to turn around and return to the home of their sister where they remained until Monday, after which they departed for their home in Newark.

Mrs. Bert Wiggins recently returned to her home in North Dakota after a season's visit to relatives here. Mrs. Wiggins had visited her son who is stationed at Waco, Texas, and who is soon to leave for "Somewhere in France," and on her return trip to her home stopped over for a visit at the home of Jacob Wiggins, also at the home of the Misses Kate and Cornelia Wiggins. Mrs. Charles Stephens and daughters Ruth and Marion were recent visitors with relatives in Brooklyn. Miss Bly returned on Saturday to resume her duties as teacher, having spent her vacation with relatives in the northern part of the state.

Miss Dick and Daisy Silverthorn were in Beloit on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Berryman entertained company from Juda on Saturday who motored here from that place and were visiting in Green county for some days, returned with them.

Mrs. Etta Pepper and Mrs. Mattice were out on Friday canvassing the town for members for the Red Cross. Miss Laura Booth returned from Milton on Saturday to resume her duties as teacher in the primary department, having spent her vacation at her home in that town.

Will Letts and wife returned on Saturday evening from Chicago and Waukegan, where they visited their son George, who is at the Great Lakes Naval Station. They, however, were unable to be with him as he was under quarantine, having been bitten by a saw and talked with him at a window and report him to be doing as well as could be expected.

Allan Silverthorn, Pauline Kelley and Ruth Stevens returned to their high school work in Janesville on Monday, but will miss the first half of the day as the train was about three hours late.

Miss Neva Eyster returned to her work in Janesville on Monday, having spent Sunday at her home here. Miss Poynter holds a position as stenographer at the Evans Childs, who has her office in that city. James Honeysett and John Cowan were callers in Janesville on Saturday, the latter going to see his mother, Mrs. Wm. Fankhurst, who has been quite ill, but who is reported as being much better.

On Sunday Footville and vicinity experienced the worst snow storm we have had in years. It was a blizzard, the snow blowing and drifting so that the roads were almost impassable. And this Monday morning men are out shoveling and opening the roads, but it was over the rural route today, owing to the condition of the roads, the snow drifts in places being several feet high. No services were held in any of the churches yesterday as it was almost impossible for people to get about.

Miss Mary Lynch returned to her home in Janesville on Saturday after a week's visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Silverthorn.
